

BRITISH SUB
CREW LOST
IS BELIEFReport Diver Located at Depth Precluding
Rescue

Plymouth, Eng., Nov. 13.—(AP)—The submarine M-1 was located today at the bed of the sea twelve miles south of the coast. There is a slight chance that members of the crew of 68 are still alive.

The M-1 which disappeared during maneuvers in the channel yesterday morning is said to be lying at too great a depth to permit either diving operations or attempts to bring her to the surface.

The naval rescue ships are reported to have ascertained that the M-1 had not suffered from any collision, and for this reason it is thought the men on board may be still alive.

Facing Terrible Death
If they are, experts say, they face a terrible lingering death as the boat is of too great size and lying in too deep water to permit raising her.

The depth of the water at the point is reported to have been located at about 240 feet and experts expressed doubt as to whether the submarine can withstand pressure at that depth.

Although there should be a sufficient supply of air in the boat to support life for two or three days, no air has been found on the surface, and it might have been expected if any of the crew were alive and able to release it.

Messages from Weymouth, supplementing the one reporting the discovery of the submarine, said that the hulk believed to be the M-1 was located by the use of a hydrophone sound catching device used by anti-submarine craft.

Experts here recognized the difficulty of being certain that the submerged body encountered is actually the M-1. This part of the coast is the grave yard of many boats sent to the bottom by German submarines during the war.

While it is determined that there was no collision, officials believe the M-1 may have struck submerged wreckage which punctured her side. In this case there is small chance that any of the crew is still alive.

This however, is but a matter of speculation. The officials seem agreed on one fact, whether the submarine has been located or not, if she lies in such depths that divers cannot operate she cannot be raised.

ADMIRALTY IN DOUBT

London, Nov. 13.—(AP)—An admiralty statement this afternoon expresses doubt concerning the accuracy of the report that the submarine has been located.

The statement says "every effort is being made to locate the position of the M-1," but that "the admiralty have not received any intelligence enabling them to give credence to the report that the submarine has been located."

SUB MAY BE FOULED

Plymouth, Eng., Nov. 13.—(AP)—The missing monitor submarine M-1, may have become fouled in the wreck of one of the many vessels sent to the bottom of the English Channel by German submarines during the world war.

This theory was advanced in naval circles today in the absence of all traces of the giant undersea craft, which made her last dive off the Devon coast during maneuvers yesterday morning.

Every available craft is proceeding to this part of the channel to aid in the sweeping operations which will be continued for days.

A set of the navy's latest apparatus for communicating with the surface in case of accident, went down with the M-1 and upon this slender thread hangs the slight chance that some of the complement of 68 men and officers may be saved.

RESCUE IMPOSSIBLE

London, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A radio received at Portland from the searching ships indicates, the Evening Star says, that the missing submarine M-1 has been located 12 miles off Start Point, Devonshire, at a depth which precludes diving operations and renders it practically impossible to raise her.

DISCLOSE TUT'S
MUMMY; WAS BUT
15 YEAR OLD BOY

Carlo, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The mummy of Tut-Ankh-Amen, with the hands clasped on the breast and a tall golden crown on the head, has been disclosed at last, says a message from Luxor today. The experts' examination established that the pharaoh was only fifteen years old when he died. On the breast were found two large gold scarabs and strapped to the side two gold hilted swords and two gold handled knives.

DIXON HOPES TO WIN TOMORROW
FROM ROCK FALLSLocal High School Team in Good Shape—Pep
Meeting Tonight

The Dixon high school football team tomorrow meets one of the strongest foes of the season when the Rock Falls high school squad will line up at the north side athletic field at 2:30. On the eve of the battle with last year's Rock River Valley conference champions, Rock Falls protested loudly against the officials who had been selected to officiate at the game. Coach Bowers spent most of the morning lining up satisfied officials and this afternoon announced that Furr of DeKalb would referee; Shafer of Princeton will umpire and Robb of Princeton will officiate as head linesman.

Team in Good Shape.

"There is not a crumple on the team and there is no reason why we should not win from Rock Falls," was the final word of both Coaches Bowers and Culley. Every member of the squad is in first class shape and all this week, has been devoted to the breaking up of passes with a view of furnishing strong opposition to the Logan, Willett and Pignatelli, much to be feared passing attack. All three of these men are members of last year's championship team and were responsible largely for the landing of the coveted title.

Pep Meeting Tonight.

A monster "pep" meeting has been called at the south side high school auditorium this evening, starting promptly at 7:15 to which the public is invited. Presidents of the Kiwanis, Gyro, Lions and Toastmaster's clubs will be present and make short talks to the team and students on the eve of the game.

BROOKE JOHNS MARRIES.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The marriage of Brooke Johns, barjo artist and former Polaris star, to Miss Hazel Mahaska Barnsley of Montgomery county, Maryland, was announced here today. The wedding took place Wednesday at St. Mary's City, Md., the bride giving her age as 18. Johns is 31. Johns' father said his son had known Miss Barnsley since she was a baby.

S. S. TEAMS PLAY

The boys of the football teams of the Christian Sunday School of Dixon will meet the boys of the football team of the Christian Sunday school of Nelson tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the old Pastime Pavilion grounds in Nelson and a spirited contest is anticipated.

TODAY'S MARKET REPORTS

Wheat Took Upturn
On Market Today

Chicago, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Brisks buying, that centered in the December delivery and was ascribed largely to foreigners have a decided lift to wheat today as soon as business began. Offerings were quickly absorbed. Indications of much better export demand for Canadian wheat were in evidence. It was noted that stocks of wheat at Liverpool are only 984,000 bushels as against 2,365,000 bushels a year ago. Chicago initial quotations, 1/2 to 1 1/2¢ higher, new style, Dec. 1.64 1/2@1.65; and May 1.46 1/2@1.47, were followed by material further gains that hoisted Dec. to 1.56 1/2 and May to 1.48 1/2.

Subsequently it was estimated at 3,500,000 bushels Canadian wheat had been purchased for shipment to Europe and that the Argentine exportable surplus would be 25,000,000 bushels under a recent unofficial forecast of 100,000,000 bushels.

December reached 1.56 1/2 and went to 1 1/2¢ premium over May, the greatest difference this season. However, profit taking led to a sharp reaction. Wheat closed nervous 1/2 to 1 1/2¢ net higher, new style Dec. 1.55 1/2@1.56 and May 1.47 1/2@1.48.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat. There was general buying on the part of previous sellers of corn. After opening 1/4 to 1/2¢ up, Dec. 76 1/2@77 1/2 the market scored additional upticks, Dec. reaching 78 1/2.

A further advance of 78 1/2 for Dec. took place and then the corn market eased down. Corn closed unsettled, 1/2 to 1/2¢ higher, with Dec. 78 1/2@79 and Oats started at a shade to 1/2¢ higher, Dec. 38 1/2 and later climbed a little more.

Provisions were higher.

Wall Street Review
New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Encouraged by a series of unusually favorable financial developments including retention of the 3 1/2 per cent discount rate by the Federal Reserve Bank and the $5 cash extra dividend on General Motors common, speculators for the advance started to bid up prices vigorously at the opening of today's market. Chrysler opened 6 1/2 points higher; Dupont 6; Mack Trucks 3 1/2; American Can 3 and Allied Chemical 2.

Buying orders poured in from all sections and prices surged up in brisk fashion. General Motors opened with a block of 2700 at 139 1/2 to 140 against yesterday's close of 139 1/2, indicating that the extra dividend had been largely discounted. U. S. Steel common also had a "spread opening" at 135 to 134 1/2, compared with yesterday's close at 132 1/2. Dupont extended its gains to 11 points. General Electric rose 8 1/2 and Fisher Body, Foundation Company and Atlantic Coast Line sold up 3 to 5 1/2 points. Foreign exchanges opened firm, demand sterling ruling around 4.84 1/2 and francs and lire at 4.06 1/2.

General Motors surged up to 141 1/2 before it met a flood of profit taking sales which drove it down to 138 1/2. Dupont dropped from 258 to 251. Others continued to rise vigorously however. U. S. Steel getting up to 135 1/2 and a flock of industrials ruled 2 to 5 points above yesterday's final figures. Enormous buying orders poured in for high grade rails, especially New York Central, B. & O. Norfolk & Western, Great Northern pfd and Lehigh, all of which excelled their previous tops for the year. Call loans renewed at 4 1/2 per cent.

St. James Ladies Aid Society Meets

The St. James Ladies' Aid society held a very interesting meeting with Mrs. L. E. Burkett, Mrs. Leon Burkett assisting.

The meeting was opened with the scripture lesson which was taken from the 57th chapter of Jeremiah. A song, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" follows, and Mrs. Gelsler led in prayer.

As it was impossible for the secretary to be present the minutes of the previous meeting and roll call were omitted. Mrs. Dick, the treasurer, gave her report, which showed the very gratifying sum of $129.72 being cleared from the "fried chicken" supper held a short time before.

After the devotions were concluded by the Lord's prayer, a very pleasant social hour followed during which time the ladies sewed on quilt patches. A guessing contest was enjoyed. Mrs. Tepper being the lucky person to win the prize. Mrs. Breimer also gave a

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY.

Breakfast—

Chilled apple sauce, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

Dinner—

Pot roast of beef, boiled potatoes, stuffed pepper salad, canned pears, one-egg cake, graham bread, milk, coffee.

These menus are planned to make as small a hole in the housekeeping allowance as possible and at the same time furnish wholesome interesting dishes. With the exception of the dinner salad and the cake, which is highly spiced, children five years of age may be served the meals as suggested.

Stuffed Pepper Salad.

One-half cup finely chopped peanuts, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 3 small green peppers, French dressing.

It will take about 2 cups of peanuts in the shell to make ½ cup chopped nuts. The celery should be washed, scraped and cut in tiny pieces or chopped. Let stand in ice water for two hours. Drain and dry between towels. Combine nuts and celery, cover with French dressing and let stand in a cold place for 1 hour. Wash peppers, cut in halves lengthwise and remove seeds and pith. Fill with celery mixture and serve on a bed of lettuce. (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

Use Pea Coal.

You can use pea coal in your large furnace if you start the fire with a large size coal. The bed of the larger coals will prevent the pea coals from falling through the grate.

Double Duty.

Eggs may be made to do double duty by beating up with tablespoon of water to each egg.

Scarcity of Eggs.

If eggs are scarce and you want to make a cake that calls for more than one egg add the butter last and have it melted when added.

Clean Up Often.

By removing dirt and dust as it comes along the weekly cleaning may be turned into a fortnightly task and your housework will be made much easier.

MUST HAVE WATERWAYS.

There is virtually no railroad-building now in progress. There has been little for many years. There is little contemplated. Railroaders don't believe it would pay to build. New railroad activity consists mostly in mergers of competing lines and in improvement of rolling stock and handling methods, to increase efficiency. That is good, but does not go far enough.

There must be some new railroads for the country's rapid growth where water transportation is impossible.

But where water transportation is possible, as Secretary Hoover points it, it is the obvious solution because it is immensely cheaper than railroad transportation. Figures prove that beyond a doubt, especially on the Great Lakes, and to a less but still convincing extent on the Mississippi and in the long haul from coast to coast through the Panama canal.

The obvious need of the country is to develop both railroads and waterways as complementary systems, according to a plan broad enough to embrace the needs of the entire country. Development of the Mississippi and the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterways, as Secretary Hoover suggests would make a good beginning.

RE-FIGHTING OLD BATTLES.

It is easy to understand French sentiment is wishing to celebrate the anniversary of the Marne, but it is possible also that a day may come when they will be willing to let that battle sink into history. Apparently that day would come soon if the hero of the Marne, Marshal Joffre, were consulted.

As the date approached this year and the people in charge of the ceremonies were arranging the program, a messenger was sent to Marshal Joffre to ask him to participate in the proceedings. That modest soldier is reported to have exclaimed:

"What! Is this sort of thing going to take place every year?"

And the old soldier is right. There is not much real good to be derived from awakening the war passions of a particular battle and re-thinking and telling its causes and effects. Marshal Joffre had a big job to do at the Marne and he did it well, but he sets his fellow-soldiers and fellow-countrymen and everybody else a good example in choosing to let that job become a thing of the past.

To forget the wrongs suffered in the past is good, for an individual, also for the nation. It makes for peace.

FITTED FOR HIS JOB.

Harford MacNider, former National Commander of the American Legion, who was elected by President Coolidge to be Assistant Secretary of War to succeed Dwight F. Davis, now Secretary, was born in Mason City, Iowa, and is thirty-seven years old. He is a graduate of Harvard, and first saw active military service on the Mexican Border in 1916. He volunteered and entered the United States Army shortly after the United States entered the World War serving with distinction abroad, receiving the Distinguished Service Cross. He resigned from the Army in 1919 with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. Because of his activities in behalf of the former soldiers of the war, he was selected to head the American Legion.

MacNider has for many years been an earnest student of military matters and is eminently fitted for the position to which the President appointed him. He also brings a business knowledge to the office that is essential. MacNider, in private life, has made a success as a business man and a banker.

During the last Republican convention at Cleveland MacNider was several times mentioned as a Vice-Presidential possibility.

A REMEDY.

If people could learn, once and for all, that you never can get something for nothing in this life, the army of swindlers and confidence men would vanish overnight.

For the desire to do just that is the reason for the loss of millions of dollars annually in "sucker" investments.

A man wants to put a few hundred dollars into a project that will make him wealthy. Not to work for his wealth, not to spend years of toil and energy in laying by a competence; but to get it for nothing, without earning it. And presently some smooth oil stock salesman comes along and there is another sadder and wiser man.

You don't get things for nothing in this life. Things simply don't work out that way.

NATIONAL PARKS.

One of the wisest things our national government ever did was to establish the big national parks in the west.

For years these great areas of land have been held as playgrounds for all America, barred from exploitation by private individuals, kept free for any citizen who cares to visit them.

You hear much criticism of Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, in the west. But before you accept it, look well to the motives of the people who are voicing it.

Isn't it just possible that Dr. Work's insistence on safeguarding our national parks against encroachments by private interests has stirred up some of this antagonism?

Dr. Work has defended the parks. And that is no small service to the country.

The dunce went creeping along and creeping along.

There were certainly some high jinks cut up in High Jinks Land.

When they had finished playing London Bridge, the ferry-makers had a still race.

A still race is a race where everybody walks on stilts. The Clown won that.

Then they had a bean hunt. Mister Dodger hid beans everywhere, and then the others hunted for them.

Old King Cole found the most beans and so he won. But Mister Dodger said there was no prize for that, but the King could keep the beans if he wanted to and make soup for his lowly.

Then they had a taffy-pull, but Mrs. Spratt, who did the boiling, put in too much butter, and it stuck to everything it touched. Everybody got stuck up and the Little Dog that Laughed, laughed so hard when the Little Diddle-Dee-Cat got taffy all over his paws and whiskers, that he sat down in a pan of taffy himself—a pan that was set to cook, and indeed I think they had to soak him overnight to get it off.

"Let's have a donkey-party," said Nancy. "That's a lot of fun. But we'll have to have a donkey."

"Who'll be the donkey?" called out Mister Corn Dodger. "We are going to have a donkey-party, so we shall have to have a donkey."

"Oh, no, no, no!" laughed Nancy. "Not a real donkey, or even a person. Mister Dodger, we just have to have a big picture of a donkey."

But there wasn't such a thing in High Jinks Land, of course so the Ten O'Clock-Scholar said he would draw one, as he had had drawing lessons in school.

So the Muffin Man lent him a big piece of wrapping paper, and the

TOM SIMS SAYS

About the first real sign of winter is when you start wondering why in the world you cursed summer.

The black sheep of the family is usually made the goat for everything.

Women have more troubles than men. A man's friends never criticize him for growing old.

As a man thinks so is he, if he can persuade his wife to agree with him.

Another advantage a man has is when he goes visiting he usually hopes they are at home.

Sweep got him some soot, and the Ten O'Clock-Scholar managed to draw a right decent looking donkey.

It was a bit crooked and it might have passed as well for a cat or a cow as a donkey, but then it did well enough and everybody thought it very good, indeed.

"Now what?" said Mister Corn Dodger.

"Cut its tail off," said Nancy. "And pin the rest of him up on the wall."

"But what for?" they all asked.

"Why, that's the game," said Nancy. "Everyone takes his turn, blind-folded, to pin the tail on Mister Donkey. The one who pins it nearest to the right place, wins the game and gets the prize."

"Me first," said the Dunce who hadn't been doing much and who decided to get into things.

So they tied a handkerchief over the Dunce's eyes, then turned him around six times, and then gave him the donkey's tail and a pin to pin it on by.

The Dunce went creeping along and creeping along, and finally he reached the place where the donkey's picture was hanging. Then he planned the tail quite carefully. "No fair feeling around," said Nick. "You have to pin it the first place you touch."

And oh! how all the High Jinks people laughed. "Take off your handkerchief, Mister Dunce," said Nancy, "and see what you have done."

And what do you suppose, the poor Dunce had pinned the donkey's tail right onto the end of his nose.

Such a merry time as they had. (To be continued.) (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service Inc.)

TELEGRAM FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

Arrived here all safe and sound. Walter is not home yet. No exact time on the afternoon train. Ruth is her splendid self but I can see that I am a great comfort to her. Kiss the babies for me and know that I love all my home-folks including you. LESLIE.

Letter from Leslie Prescott to John Alden Prescott

I sent that wire off immediately I arrived, dearest. I find since they have brought Walter back that he has been hurt worse than we thought. The bullet through his foot shattered all the bones in the instep. It was a long while before they could get him to a doctor, who could even give him first-aid.

When he arrived home all the specialists in town thought his foot would have to be amputated. Walter emphatically insisted that he would rather die than have that done.

Finally someone recommended a young surgeon who has been making quite a name for himself in orthopedics and he said that there was a chance to save the leg or at least they could try.

"We can always cut off a man's foot as a last resort," he said with a very boyish grin, "but I am afraid we would find it rather hard to put it back after it has been separated from Mr. Burke's leg."

Just the way Dr. Walton said this seemed to give both Walter and Ruth a lot of confidence, and just at present the doctor is trying to get Walter ready for the first operation which is to be the transplanting of bone.

After all, Jack, there is nothing quite so terrible as a serious physical illness. One becomes only a kind of selfish animal that can only think of one's self.

Please do not get the idea from this that Walter is particularly selfish. I think he is particularly unselfish, but with all the pain and anxiety that his foot has given him, it is beyond human strength to be interested very much in anything else just at present.

Ruth's trouble being more psychological, she has been able to put her worries into the future where they belong and give herself up to Walter.

Do you know, Jack, I have had ever since I came here a most peculiar feeling that Fate is always jealous of people who seem too happy. Always there is something which seems beyond human control when people's lives become too easy. Walter and Ruth are devoted to each other and one would think they both deserved all the happiness that could come to them, and then, this stalks into their lives.

TOMORROW—Letter from Leslie Prescott to John Alden Prescott.

Good Thoughts for Good People

True patriotism, signifying love for God and man, would do much to eradicate the many and warlike evils accruing from the claims of greed, animality, and intolerance. The Golden Rule, as taught and lived by Jesus, must be established in human consciousness before all can know and worship God rightly, and live in the joy of tranquility.

—The Christian Science Monitor.

A sense of history as the common adventure of all mankind is as necessary for peace within as it is for peace between nations.

—H. G. Wells.

Drop Thy still dews of quietness Till all our strivings cease; Take from our souls the strain and stress, And the beauty of Thy peace.

—Whittier.

Blessed are the peacemakers; for they shall be called the children of God.

—Christ Jesus.

While we are for justice to others, we must require that justice be done to us. With us, a treaty of peace means a treaty of peace, and a treaty of amity means amity.

—Calvin Coolidge.

For the Kingdom of God is not meat and drink, but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost. For he that in these things serveth Christ is acceptable to God, and approved of men. Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another.

—Paul.

Brief Nuggets of News From Here and There About the State Gathered by Associated Press Reporters

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rockford—Arrestment of motor-ists caught in the police drive against traffic ordinance violators was resumed in police court today. Nearly 407 persons have been "tagged."

Rock Island—A number of minor automobile accidents occurred here which shrouded the city. In one of this morning, due to the heavy fog the accidents, a United States mail truck crashed into and broke off one of the large "white way" light standards recently installed.

Peoria—Though he insists he is sane, a motion seeking a sanity test for Scott Harris, 61, alleged slayer of Virginia Buchanan, 24, was to be introduced into the case today on the eve of the trial.

Champaign—As the result of recent robberies here, merchants may augment the police force by a sentry of special police who would patrol the business section of the city. The city also may organize a flivver squad for emergency calls.

Calo—Rising water has forced suspension in work on Dam 53, at Olmsstead, north of here and 500 men have been laid off.

Galesburg—Herschel Watkins, wealthy London Mills farmer who twice eloped with the wife of his farm hand has come home but this time his wife refuses to forgive him. She is living with their 10 children on one of his farms and he has taken up his residence on an adjoining place.

Calo—A colorful parade in which the American Legion entered many clever floats, climaxed the celebration of Armistice Day here last night.

The Locarno conference has done more to bring about lasting peace than any event that has ever occurred, U. S. Senator William B. McKinley told Illinois League of Women Voters.

Centralia—Albert Taafe, 13, is dead here today from injuries received Wednesday when he was run down by a truck at a street intersection.

Chicago—An insurance company is investigating circumstances of cremation of body of that of J. A. Boyce, Denver. Boyce says his supposed death cost relatives too much.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS FOR POST OFFICE PATRONS
Use "Special Handling Stamps". They cost 25c but give your parcels "First Class Service." Then if additional speed is desired use "Special Delivery Stamp." Then you will get the best service possible.

Where speed is desired to far distant points, "Use Air Mail" 40 1/2 hours time can be saved between Chicago — San Francisco.

Christmas will soon be here. Make your preparations for it now. Mail your letters, cards and parcels early. Mark your parcels "Do Not Open Until Christmas." Don't lose sight of the fact that Post Offices all over the United States will be closed all day Christmas, and unless your missives are received in time to be delivered before that day, somebody will be sorely disappointed.

Please Remember. Supervisory officers and all postal employees are trying their best at all times to serve you, and if our patrons could look into the office at anytime and see what a mass of mail is handled during an ordinary period, they would marvel how during such a rush time as at Christmas, delivery could ever be made and right here is where our patrons can assist in making it easier for the postal employees, and at the same time insure mail delivery. By Mailing Early.

New York—The dramas that go on within dramas, hidden away from the faces beyond the footlights, are always more interesting than the synthetic spectacles of life upon the boards. More interesting because they are real, little comedies with big laughs and stark tragedies with real tears.

There was Augusta Haviland, for instance. She played the maid in "Lucky Sam McCarver." On the opening night at the Playhouse she came direct from her husband's funeral to report for duty. He was Charles Chappell and they had been married 30 years.

A few days later Miss Haviland went to call on Katherine Cornell and other stage folk in Beekman Place. Ruth Gillmore found her slumped upon a doorstep, unconscious. Coming out of unconsciousness the next day, Miss Haviland's first thought was of getting to the theater in time for her role. Reminded that she did not enter until the second act, she answered, "That's so. I have time for a ten minute nap." She fell asleep and never woke.

Hardly anything in the way of advertising on Broadway has attracted as much attention as an wooden Indian used to attract attention to a movie. In a few short years the wooden Indian has almost disappeared. It was not regarded as anything in the way of artistic achievement, but now one of them is to be auctioned at the American Art Galleries as part of an early American collection and will, no doubt bring a fancy price.

Honest John Kelly is seriously sick for the first time in his 70 years. This famous figure of the sporting world and gambling halls recently underwent an operation and is still abed.

Honest John was a ballplayer in his youth and later an umpire. He gained widespread fame by fining Cap Anson $110 for kicking against his decisions.

Kelly also refereed many prize fights. He was almost mobbed when he declared all bets off the Corbett-Sharkey fight. Corbett lost on a rather unusual foul and after giving the decision to Sharkey, Kelly announced from the ring that no bets should stand on that decision. Since closing his famous gambling house near Times Square several years ago Honest John has spent much of his time attending ball games, prize fights and horse races throughout the country.

A Lamp that Burns 94% Air

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. L. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.—Adv.

Important to Coffee Users

YOU probably have never taken the trouble to figure out how much of your annual income you pay for coffee. You do as everyone else does. You buy coffee as you need it. Just as you buy bread. You wouldn't think of buying a year's supply in advance. For the same reason that you wouldn't buy a year's supply of bread in advance.

Nevertheless, you do buy a whole year's supply of coffee every year. But because you buy a pound or so at a time, you've never thought to figure how much of your income it costs you.

One of the biggest factors in the size of your year's coffee bill is the NUMBER OF TIMES you have to buy coffee. And, of course, the number of times you have to buy depends altogether on HOW LONG every pound you buy LASTS.

That's simple. And even more simple than that is the fact that it's CUP COST—NOT POUND COST that really runs up your coffee bill. Paying less for a pound of coffee that yields only a few cups to the pound costs far more in the long run because you have to buy so many more pounds of such a coffee in order to get the number of cups your needs require.

Now, if you could obtain a coffee that actually gave you more cups in every pound than the coffee you now use, you wouldn't have to buy coffee as often as you buy it now, would you? And if on top of that you discovered that this "more cups to the pound" coffee brought you a richer, tastier flavor you'd get greater satisfaction out of every meal at which you served this coffee.

This is to tell you that there is a coffee of this high quality and economy available here today.

It is a coffee used now by almost two million people every day.

All we ask of you is this: If you like exceptionally good coffee—yet would like to economize on your coffee expense—try just one pound of Thomas J. Webb Coffee and be your own judge of its greater goodness and greater economy.

Your neighborhood dealer has it.

TOASTMASTERS CLUB

In spite of the handicap of inclement weather, the Toastmaster Club had one of the largest turnouts of the year. Although a day late, the program was made up of speeches and songs to commemorate the signing of the Armistice.

The meeting was called promptly at 6:15. Toastmaster Hintz offering a short prayer. Mr. Benjamin Keltzman led the club in a number of war-time songs.

About a dozen Sterling Toastmasters, showing their neighborliness and interest by braving the slippery pavements and rain, dropped in to exchange greetings and help enjoy the program. They surprised the Dixon Club by bringing with them not only their own splendid talent and not only listening in but contributing to the program. Their "Windy Sextette" brought down a storm of applause with its elastic "Drought" number. They were versatile, very versatile, for there was only one thing that they could not do with their instruments—make music. But, they surely dispensed enough fun for a Melody in Laughter.

Five men, who had been previously presented for membership, were voted into the Club, Messrs. Marth, Riddle, Hintz, Buchner and Dutcher. These men will be initiated on next meeting night.

Six interesting talks on subjects relating to Armistice Day were given by members; Mr. Lancaster spoke on "History of Armistice," bringing out a number of interesting facts about the affair that we have all taken for granted. Mr. Lang spoke on "Armistice Day in France," noise, leave, A. W. O. L., eats, Beau coup Vin Blanc, etc., you know if you were there, and if not, it is just as well that it be tucked away in the memory or the hidden limbo of the past. Mr. Hunt also spoke on "Armistice Day in France," however, he wasn't in France but in Lunn'on, where he saw an Aussie in an advanced state of inebriation, playing Angel on top of a monument in Trafalgar Square, while trying to get a peek into Piccadilly Circus. In the excitement he lost his kit and hasn't found it yet. Walt Spindler spoke briefly on "Armistice Day" in an American camp. Mr. Mc-Nicol told of the great wave of relief and excitement with which Armistice was greeted in Dixon.

THE HIKERS

A week or so ago, one of the regular Y. M. C. A. boys' hikes was taken, under the leadership of the Physical Director, E. A. Snapp. As is the custom following these hikes, the boys are trained in essay writing, by turning in an essay on the hike. One of these, by George Leone is worthy of a place in the Telegraph and is copied herewith:

Our First Hike

On Monday, about 10:30 A. M. fourteen boys and Mr. Snapp, our leader, started on our hike. We walked through many fields and finally came to the railroad tracks which led to Nelson. It was chilly, which made hiking a pleasure. Some of the smaller boys got tired and lagged way behind and we had to wait for them to catch up with the rest. We came to a cross road and we followed this for a little way when off to our right, about two blocks, we saw a wood. To get to this wood we had to cross a large sand burr field; many of the boys were pretty well stuck up with sand burrs.

When we got into the woods, we raked away the leaves with our hands and built our fires; some of the boys had quite a time starting their fires. Mr. Snapp and I started our fire with only one match. The wind was blowing hard and we had to watch our fires closely so that nothing would catch afire.

Everyone had a delicious appetite. When nearly everyone was through eating, one of the boys shouted, "Hurrah! We've got our fire started!" at which everybody burst out laughing.

After everyone was done eating, we put out our fires and Dockey and I chose out a team for a game of flag. In this game, the side that got all the other side's five sticks or seven men would win. Our side won by getting all their sticks.

About three o'clock we started for Dixon. On the way home we sang songs. A few trains passed us. We got a drink at the Dixon sand pit. We arrived at the Y. M. C. A. about 4:15. Everyone said that they had a most enjoyable hike. Those who did not go did not know what they missed. When we got back to the "Y" we all went in for a swell swim with Mr. Snapp.

The loot taken was principally public utilities stock certificates, with a considerable amount of cash and clothing.

The feature of the Lions club meeting on Armistice Day was the stirring address of Prof. L. W. Miller, County Superintendent of Schools of Lee county. After dwelling briefly on the events of seven years ago, Prof. Miller spoke at length on the value of the service club in striving in times of peace to bring about happier living conditions.

The Sterling Lions Club plans to have its charter presentation night shortly before the Dixon club holds a similar function. On the evening of Nov. 22 Lions from far and near, as well as other local service clubs, and officers of Lions Internationals, will go to Sterling for that affair.

Manufacture Invention

A small factory is being started in Franklin Grove by George and A. C. Jeanguenat, formerly of this city, for the manufacture of a Ford accessory that the brothers have invented and patented. This accessory is in the form of a pair of motor vibration braces that is said to eliminate, on a actual test, 80 per cent of the vibration of a Ford engine at a speed of 35 miles per hour on pavement. The present output of the new factory is 250 pair of braces per day and, as these are being sold as fast as they are manufactured, the Jeanguenat Brothers expect to enlarge their factory before long.

The braces are on sale in five different places in Dixon and the manufacturers hope to have them marketed generally before long. The Jeanguenat Brothers also own and operate a garage known as the Hi-Way Garage, at Franklin Grove.

COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

SUNDAY'S GAME IN DIXON WILL BE AN INTERESTING FIGHT

Illinois Traction Battlers Coming Here to Meet Local Legion

The Illinois Traction football team under the leadership of Captain George Crawford, former half back of the Spring Valley Wildcats, will line up against the Dixon Legion here Sunday afternoon. The Traction crew from Ottawa is one of the strong contenders for the state independent title and the local fans may rest assured of a hard battle at Brown's Field.

Captain Crawford has issued a call for all of the local gladiators to report for practice tonight. The out-door drill has been hampered materially this week by the bad weather, but the team has been going through light work and will be ready for their strong opposition.

Hudson, the colored sensation, who was a thorn in the flesh for Clinton last Sunday has signed his signature to a Legion contract and will play here the remainder of the season, appearing in the back field. "Butch" Whipple has strengthened the team materially working opposite Gus Wimpelberg on the end and it is due to his presence here that Hudson was obtainable. Dixon has no cripples in the lineup and should make a great showing Sunday. "Pat" Dawson who played a wonderful game at Clinton last Sunday is in fine form and will guard any possible passing, he having intercepted three of Edging's offerings last Sunday which were intended for the feet of Gladwin.

Another Clinton Game. Manager Ward Miller was in Clinton Wednesday and discussed the advisability of a third game this season with the Legion crew of that city. Manager "Mugs" Burlingame is equally anxious to meet Dixon in a post season game to be played the first Sunday in December. The place where the game will be staged, Dixon or Clinton, will be decided probably next week.

Rock Island Coming. The management of the Rock Island Independents has requested Manager Ward Miller for an engagement here. The Independents prefer playing here Sunday, Nov. 22 and such a game should prove a big drawing card for the Dixon Legion.

Dixon Bowlers Hit High Scores This Week at Pastime

Dixon bowlers are hitting the maple hard this week at the Pastime bowling alleys, three scores for as many games running well over the 600 mark being rolled yesterday. C. V. Chapman started the high score yesterday with three games, 211, 227 and 174, a total of 612 pins and an average of 204 for each game. Art Sheffield followed him with an even better score of 211, 222 and 202, a total of 636 an dan average of 212 pins for each game. Last night, Eddie Worley, Dixon's boy wonder of the alleys, beat all of the older pin stars with a total of 631 for three games. He rolled 248, 238 and 195, with an average of 227 pins for each game, which is a new record for this season.

The Dixon city bowling league will start next week, teams rolling on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. super-goliath plane carrying four motors developing 2,000 horsepower has broken the world's record for altitude and duration. Carrying a useful cargo of 8,818.49 pounds he remained aloft for two hours and 19 minutes and reached an altitude of 5,000 meters (16,400 feet). He made a perfect landing.

For the third time in four years the "standing room only" sign has been hung out at Ohio Stadium.

There is no likelihood that an eastern football conference similar to the Western Conference will be formed in the near future, in the opinion of J. T. Blossom, Yale director of athletics.

New York promoters are waiting to hear from Jack Kearns regarding a welterweight championship fight between Mickey Walker and Tommy Milligan of England. The fight has been planned for the Christmas fund card of Dec. 23.

Earl Pottinger, former Urslinus football star but now wearing the molehills of the New York Giants, broke his leg in a pro-game at Polo Grounds.

Jimmy McLarnin, Oakland bantam weight, knocked out Jackie Fields, former Olympic featherweight champion in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout at Los Angeles.

GRANGE TO SING SWAN SONG WHEN HE PLAYS WABASH

Will Be the Iceman's Last Appearance on Home Field

Chicago, Nov. 13—(AP)—Red Grange will sing his swan song tomorrow on the gridiron that brought him glory—the Illinois Memorial Field at Urbana.

It may be a lusty chant of returned kickoffs, yard gaining runs and long passes, accompanied by the admiring tributes of fans, gathering there to witness his final appearance against Wabash. Next week, against Ohio State, the untamed Wheaton ice man, drops out of the Western Conference football picture to which he has given so many vivid splashes of color.

Grange's part in the game may be small, for Coach Zuppke plans to save him for the season's finale with the Buckeyes. But even so, the eyes of the football world follow him.

Intersection interest follows the big green of Dartmouth with its passing game and deceptive repertoire into Chicago as guests of the Stagmen. The Maroon field is muddy and this may aid Chicago in its efforts to stop Oberlander and the New Hampshire passers who, after making short work of eastern opposition, come west seeking new worlds to conquer.

Chicago, looking back to halting Grange in the Illinois game with the aid of the mud counts on its defense. The soft field is a handicap to its offense though McCarty may duplicate his gains of last week in the rain and time.

Northwestern among the Big Ten campaign elect, seeks to duplicate its feat of defeating Michigan, leaves for Purdue today, counting on victory to advance its standing. Its strongest lineup is ready while the Baileymakers are without Captain Harmon, halfback, and Gladders, fullback. Each team has won 6 of the 12 games played in 30 years.

Michigan is geared for its attempt to erase the defeat at Northwestern by downing Ohio State. Its potential starters include the strongest lineup "Hurry Up" Yost can muster. Friedman is at quarter with Gregory, Menden and Gilbert in the back field.

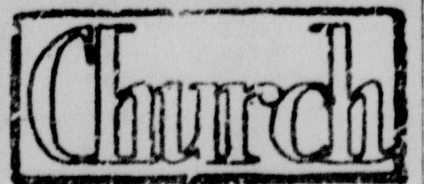

Ohio State pins its faith on Marek, Karo and Captain Cunningham in its offense and has a sturdy defense. Like Michigan, it has lost one conference game and beaten an eastern opponent, but a tie game with Chicago mars its record.

Minnesota is crippled for its reception of Iowa at the Gopher homecoming. Since Minnesota has its place at the conference standing pinnacle to defend, it is prepared for its supreme effort of the season while the Hawkeyes are anxious to regain prestige lost in the Wisconsin defeat.

Bad weather may figure in Notre Dame's entertainment of Carnegie Tech in South Bend. Rain has hampered practice of the Rockne men.

Indiana and Wisconsin expect to dispose of their non-conference opponents, Rose Poly and Michigan Aggies in the regular order of things.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Most unanimous has been the verdict of members and attendants of the local Christian church, in commendation of the good work done in the two weeks' revival that closed last Wednesday night, by pastor-evangelist Guy B. Williamson of Rock Island and song-evangelist Miss Vivian Graves of Dixon. The preaching was constructive, kindly, optimistic, vigorous, spiritual and loyal to the Scriptures. Mr. Williamson showed himself a preacher "with nothing to preach but the Gospel, and nothing to do but to preach the Gospel." Miss Graves' leadership of the chorus was ever inspiring and encouraging, entirely free from either criticism or shallow levity that sometimes characterizes popular choral leadership. Her solos cannot be forgotten. They were well-chosen and well-rendered without exception.

The nineteen additions to the church do not by any means represent the good the Christian congregation feels has been achieved in the community by this series of meetings. It was a delightful and uplifting period for all who come within the range of the public services, the home visitation, and the precious devotions in the homes of the aged and shut-in.

On Thursday fourteen of the Dixon people accompanied Miss Graves and Mr. Williamson to Rock Island, where a One-day Stewardship Convention was held in the Fifteenth Ave. church. Mr. Williamson enters upon an intensive winter campaign, looking toward the completion of the Fifteenth Ave. building next year, while Miss Graves next week joins the Rev. F. Brandtner of Dixon in evangelistic meetings at Stockton, Ill.

Too Much Efficiency

By E. J. Rath

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOHN W. BROOKE, widower, hardware magnate, before leaving town for a period of two months, arranged with a firm of efficiency engineers to take charge of his home while he is away. He does not think him three children, Constance, Billy and Alice, about what will take place. But they soon find out, when H. HEDGE, assigned to carry out the contract, takes complete charge of the Brooke household. He is occupying Mr. Brooke's private suite and has made an office out of the library. Constance has come to Hedge for a requisition to buy a new hat. She admits having bought the hat she is wearing only three weeks previous. She tells him that the season has changed. He seems to know of only four seasons in a year. Constance, however, insists that yearly seasons have nothing to do with hats.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

HE devoted five seconds to thought. "Probably, if you buy hats so frequently, you have one that you purchased in the corresponding season last year. If so, in what condition is it?"

"It was probably given to my maid long ago. Really, do you propose to persist in being utterly impossible?"

"Not at all. On the contrary, I am very glad to have this matter of hats brought up. I can see that it merits attention. Really, Miss Brooke, I do not want you to misunderstand me."

The efficiency man paused for an instant to give emphasis to his words.

"I desire your co-operation in all things, including hats. I am not in the least unreasonable; I am merely trying to apply business principles in a new field. I am sure that you will assist me. Now, as to hats, I may say that I never pay more than five dollars for my own, usually less. Assuming, for argument, that I pay five, I can buy 20 hats for a hundred dollars. It would probably take me five years to consume 20 hats. The hat which you are now wearing, while different in style from my own, is nevertheless obviously less durable, both in design and material. I cannot see that it is an efficient hat, while I already know that it is not an economic hat."

"Let us be reasonable. I will make an exception in this case, which I do not think justifies another hat for a period of nine or 10 weeks. I will give you a requisition for a new hat now."

He smiled at her in a friendly way. Constance held her breath.

"But I shall specify that the hat is not to cost more than five dollars."

She arose slowly from her chair and faced him.

"Are you serious?" she asked in a low tone.

"Oh, quite."

The bitter moments of life are visited upon the rich and poor alike. Constance knew that she was poor—very poor.

"I—I shall go about in tatters," she said brokenly. "I shall wear my old hat."

The efficiency man looked at the old hat and liked it. The thought occurred to him that Constance and the hat had been created for each other. There was a beautiful harmony that appealed to him, which was testimony to the fact that art was not wholly dead within him. Nevertheless he did not care to be looked upon wholly as a person who picked pennies and bit nickels. Efficiency was more than mere saving. Nor did he think it right for Constance to go in tatters, although he could easily believe that she would probably ornament them. Here was a chance to kill two birds with one stone.

"See here, Miss Brooke," he said. "I am going to demonstrate something to you. It will be an object lesson in efficiency. You say that a proper hat cannot be bought for five dollars, hence you are in the habit of paying a hundred. I differ. I say that a proper hat can also be an economical hat. You are going to get a new hat."

"Wait, please."

"But—"

He seized the telephone and called a number.

"Is this the Luxembourg shop? Very well. This is the residence of Mr. John W. Brooke. Please send up an assortment of hats for Miss Brooke to examine. Of course, all kinds of hats. And send them up right away. In half an hour? Make it 20 minutes, if possible. Yes; that's all."

He turned to Constance as he hung up the receiver, and smiled.

"I'll show you how to buy a hat."

"Here we are—put this on."

he said. "I'll send for you, Miss Brooke, as soon as the hats arrive."

Constance walked out in a daze. He was going to buy an economical hat—and he had telephoned to Luxembourg! She whistled softly and wrinkled her forehead in perplexity. Oh, well, there was nothing to do but wait. But she was intensely curious.

Half an hour later H. Hedge summoned her to the library. There were many hat-boxes there, under the chaperonage of two young women whose own hats identified them as eminently qualified for their duties.

"We are ready to examine hats," he said briskly, pushing aside his work and nodding at the hat custodians.

The first hat was large and of a profuse richness. The efficiency man shook his head at once.

"But at least I may try it on," exclaimed Constance.

He shrugged his shoulders and she tried it on, surveying the effect in a mirror.

Followed a succession of hats, which, to the efficiency man, were plainly constructed to sell by acreage. He was patient, however. Constance could try them on, if she wished—but she could not buy. He had committed himself to a hat to prove one of the truths of economy and efficiency, but he was steadfast against extravagance.

"No small hats!" he asked finally. "But yes, indeed," said the second saleswoman. "Some that are exquisite."

"Trot 'em out, please."

There was a very pretty parade of small hats, but at nearly all of them H. Hedge merely shook his head. He was not to be deceived; he recognized the high cost of living when he saw it. They bore all the outward evidence of sky prices. Constance appeared pleased with some of them, and sighed when she read his steady disapproval.

At last he became impatient, and began diving into boxes himself. Three hats he tossed aside carelessly, bringing exclamation of dismay from the young ladies of the Luxembourg. Then, suddenly, he was all business.

"Here we are," he said. "Put this on."

It was the tiniest hat of all, a mere bit of velvet. Not a stitch of trimming, not a solitary ornament graced it. It was almost Quakerish in its simplicity. Yet, as Constance placed it on her head, it suddenly assumed a rakish little air of its own, so that it became more than a hat—it was a saucy sentiment.

"Like that?" he demanded.

Constance did like it. Anybody would have liked it, because of the sheer pertness and mischief of the thing. But she was canny. She merely shrugged her shoulders.

"It is exquisite!" said the first saleswoman.

"It seems they all are," remarked the efficiency man dryly. "How about your opinion, Miss Brooke?"

"It is not bad," she said reluctantly. "But—"

Her glance wandered toward the discarded creations. H. Hedge shook his head promptly.

"Too high-priced, the rest of that stuff. Now, this hat is reasonable. Anybody can see it's cheap. Yet it's a good hat. It's durable, simple, and doesn't carry any circus spangles. Does it fit? What is it—seven?"

One of the Luxembourg ladies was about to break into vivid speech when Constance checked her with a glance.

"The hat fits quite well," she said gravely.

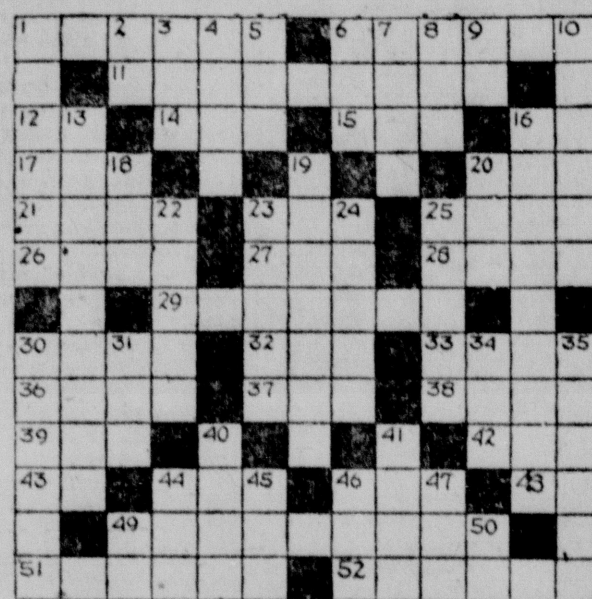

"If thought so. Want it?"

"Why—I believe so—with your consent, of course."

MOLINE SWINDLE DETAILS ENLARGE AS PLOT UNFOLDS

Wilbur E. Warr of Moline Tool Company Had Elaborate Plan

Moline, Ill., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Details of an elaborate swindle scheme by which Wilbur E. Warr, secretary of the Moline Tool Company, defrauded the company of more than $14,000 have been made public by officials of the company.

Warr has already confessed to obtaining $14,000 by organizing a "dummy" company through which he bought large orders of factory materials which never existed. He collected the money for the phantom material. He is said to have paid for his clothing, for expensive jewelry and for equipment with which he planned to open a printing shop through organizing other fake companies.

Warr Sick in Bed
Warr, who was an officer in the Rock Island County Sunday School Association, has been ill in bed since he was arrested last Saturday following his return from a hunting trip in Canada. He is at liberty under bail, the pastor of a Moline church, of which Warr was an official, being among his bondsmen. The tool company official is a son of the late John W. Warr, who wrecked a building and loan association in Moline 22 years ago.

AIR VETS CHEER MITCHELL

New York, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Hisses and boos came from 300 war time aviators at an Armistice Day dinner last night, when a telegram was read from Adjutant General Davis refusing permission for Col. William Mitchell to attend.

Aviators post 743, American Legion, with a membership representing every squadron that had active duty at the front in France, gave the dinner. The telegram from Adjutant General Davis said:

"In view of the fact that the physical presence of Col. Mitchell is necessary at the court martial before which he is appearing, favorable consideration cannot be given to your request."

The telegram was in answer to two messages sent to President Coolidge asking that the Colonel be permitted to come to New York to attend the reunion.

A telegram from Colonel Mitchell saying that he could not be the honor guest was cheered. The post telegraphed President Coolidge that it endorsed unequivocally Col. Mitchell's position before his court martial.

In an address Representative La Guardia, former aviator, said:

"Billy Mitchell is not being judged by his peers. He is being judged by nine dog robbers of the pen staff."

WANTED

302 Bookkeepers, Stenographers, Accountants, Typists and Salesmen to fill the positions our schools will be called upon to fill during the next 12 months. Let us explain our liberal enrollment plan so you may be prepared.

DEAR MR. SCOVILLE:

If anyone had told me that six short months in your school would have tripled my earning power, I would not have believed them. I accepted a position in Chicago at $100 a month, and have had three raises since. Thanks to your excellent course and my hard work.

MADGE MERCHANT,

Mt. Carroll, Ill.

DEAR MR. SCOVILLE:

I am certainly glad for the opportunity to say a good word for your school at any time or anywhere. I found your training to be thorough in every branch of it, and so I would say you have an all around business school. I know I am qualified for my position and certainly am grateful for the training I received while a student in your school.

Very truly yours,

MADGE THORNBURY,

La Moille, Ill.

DEAR MR. SCOVILLE:

Just think, a year has passed since I enrolled at your school. When I contemplated taking a business course last fall, I debated as to whether I should attend your school or some other. Since my brother had employed three of your students in his office who were very satisfactory, he insisted that I take my work at Sterling, and I am sure that I have not regretted it.

I am glad to recommend your school and serve you in any way I can in getting new students.

With best wishes to you and your teaching staff, I am

Yours truly,

MARY STOFFER,

Mt. Morris, Ill.

DEAR MR. SCOVILLE:

During the entire time I was enrolled in Brown's I was made to feel the deep interest and hearty co-operation of every teacher and since my graduation, although it has been impossible for me to accept a permanent position, one with promotion as a goal the same interest and assistance have been maintained. I have always been glad I took the Combined Course and urge others who are interested in such a course to make Brown's Business College their choice of school, for I am sure their thoroughness as well as their interest in their school is unsurpassed.

CORA BRAUER,

Dixon, Ill.

DEAR MR. SCOVILLE:

I certainly struck a streak of luck when I went with Madge Merchant to the Union Depot, because Mr. Thompson was in need of a stenographer and asked me to take it. I started at $100 a month. I had a day at the office such like those in the College Office. I could not help but think how practical our training was at Brown's Business College and I certainly recommend the course to any young man or woman who wants to get on in the business world.

AUDRA BROOKS,

Amboy, Ill.

DEAR MR. SCOVILLE:

I have a good position, as you no doubt know, and like Chicago very much. It is a great experience to be in a city the size of Chicago and see business moving as it does here.

It might be interesting to you to know that I was selected from a lot of fifteen applicants for this position, some having as high as six years' experience as well as University training. Where I was but was in reading my notes back after he dictated to me in the tryout. He told me that I could read my notes better than anyone he had interviewed. So now I can see where the training given by "Brown's of Sterling" excels that of other business training institutions, and I wish to thank you for encouraging me to "stick to shorthand" as I use it every day now.

One thing about business "political pull" is useless, all one needs is ability and willingness to do what is asked of him.

I will certainly recommend your school to anyone in need of a thorough, practical business training.

As ever, a former student,

WALTER BRUMMER,

Ashton, Ill.

DEAR MR. SCOVILLE:

In the business world of today, competition is of the keenest nature. Each individual must depend upon business knowledge gained and upon ability to grasp the existing situations if promotion is to be gained.

With a good business education, persons may venture into the business world knowing that they are equipped to cope with the experienced men, lacking only the practical experience.

In Brown's Business College, with its modern methods of instruction and excellent corps of instructors, one may gain this technical knowledge which is absolutely essential to anyone contemplating a business career.

L. W. CALKINS.

Winter term opens Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.
